was the bone of contention which led to the rupture of the friendly relations existing for so long a time between Hennessey and the New Excise Commissioner and Head Statute Corneilles and which led to the attempted assassination and successful suicide.

For years Hennessey was the tried and true friend of the Corneilles. He lived with them for twenty-three years, several years even prior to the death of Mrs. Corneille's husband. who was an Episcopal minister. The details after the breaking of the long-standing friendship and as told by the Cornellles differ somewhat. The Cornellles any that through the friendship of Hennessev's mother with Mrs. Cornellle's mother they took him to live with them more than twenty years ago, and that since then he has been more or less a pensioner on their hands. Hennessey declared to his friends, and there are many in Bay Shore who attempt to corroborate his story with circumstancial facts, that he was practically the cumstancial facts, that he was practically the circumstancial facts, that he was practically the commissioner, Mr. Graham might have been support of the family after the death of Mr. Cornellle eighteen years ago. At any rate it of this acquaintance as told by Hennessey meri their home was at 149 Willow street.
Brooklyn. For many years Hennessey was employed in the Brooklyn Water Department. For a time he was employed on the Brooklyn Bridge as a foreman of construction, young Corneille says. Eight years ago, young Corneille went into partnership with Hennessey in the real estate business and they all moved to Bay Shore. They went to live in a house in Awixa avenue. The real estate business of the Brim consisted mainly of rentals and was confined almost entirely to the summer.

Hennessey was a great hand to drink. He would occasionally go on sprees lasting a week uld occasionally go on sprees lasting a week two. Sometimes he played poker and if had money he was inclined to heavy play, he was what the villagers termed a good ellow and he was very popular among the ownsfolk. The Corneilles on the other hand Three years ago Hennessey's father died for willed to his son two houses, one in Gold treet, the other in Sands street. Brooklyn like yented for $50 a month each and were aliced at $20,000. This caused the ruction and he stories as to how it came about differ. The Corneilles say that Hennessey made were the property to Mrs Corneille in payment of what he owed her, including elevencents board. Hennessey told all his friends and later the courts that this was no such hing. He said that the Corneilles were after dim at breakfast, dimer and supper to make t in drinking or playing poker. Two at in drinking or playing poker. Two ago they prevailed upon him when about to take a pleasure trip South a over the property. Last fall the Corner over the property. he was about to take a pleasure trip. South to make over the property. Last fall the Corneilles left their Bay Shore home and moved to Brooklyn for the winter. Hennessey did not go with them. He was out. The rupture had come, Young Corneille declared yesterday that the reason this old-time boarder had been put out was that the family could no longer stand his conduct. He came home drunk, he said, and abused Mrs. Corneille, He insulted Miss Corneille, he declared, and on one occasion knocked her down.

He insulted Miss Corneille, he declared, and on one occasion knocked her down.

This version of the trouble made Hennessey furious. He went among his friends in the village and told them that the Corneilles lad put up with him all during the years when he held it no longer they couldn't stand him any more. They had not only taken his property, but shu the door in his face, he said. He swore he'd get his property back and so he sued in the Supreme Court of Brocklyn, but Justice Dickey decided against him. Then

But los mind was always on getting back that Brooklyn provesty and getting even with the Corneilles. His ensuity, however, was against the mother and the daughter rather than the non. He brought suit against the son for an accounting of their business, alleging that of the $2,700 profits of the firm he had received but $300. In March he assaulted Mrs. Corneille and was fined $40 for it. A month later when full of liquor he went to the Corneille home, the family having returned Cornelle home, the family having returned for the summer, and tried to kill the mother and daughter. The son was not at home. First he cut the telephone wires in order that assistance might not be summoned. Then he attacked the house. The doors were locked and up in the garret the two wegnen were barricaded in fear of their lives. Hatchet in hand, Hennessey went at the door of the kitchen, yowing that he would kill them both. While he hacked away the women sereamed from the attic window. Help came and Hennessey was disarmed. For this offence he was put under a $1,000 pegce bond, Velzer and Griffin, who found him dead to-day going surety.

APPOINTMENTS BY ODE: L. Reviser.

Senator Platt, Governor-elect Odell and Col. Dunn, the new chairman of the Republican State Committee, are to have a talk at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Thursday. It is now generally accepted that the Hon. James G. Graham, who for two years represented the First As-rejected to fill Col. Dunn's shoes. Col. Dunn, however, does not believe he should resign as a railroad commissioner, and his friends agree with him.

Mr. Graham is a young man who has no dodges in his make up. He has been practising law in Newburg since 185. He is one of the Odell group in Grange county.

At the conversation on Thursday between Mr. Platt, Mr. Odell and Mr. Dunn, it was said last night, something will be outlined as to a possible successor of the Hon. George Z. Lincch of Little Valley as the chief of the Statutory Revision Commission Mr. Lincoln was appointed to this place on Jan. 2, 1865. Mr. Lincoln was the great friend in the Constitutional convention of the Hon. Joseph H. Choate and the Hon. Elihu Root. Governor-elect Odell, it was said last night, thinks that he will appoint a man to succeed Mr. Lincoln.

For two sessions the Hon. Jotham P. Allds of Chenango has been the Republican leader in the Assembly. The friends of the Hon. Otto Kelsoy of Livingston believe that he should have an opportunity to demonstrate his abilities to represent the Republican majority on the floor. From all that is known, however, at the moment there is no disposition to dethrone Mr. Allds.

Already talk as to the successor of the Hon. Henry E. Lyman of Oswego as Commissioner of Excise has been heard. The Commissioner is appointed by the Governor for a term of five years and confirmed by the Senate. His salary is $5,000. He appoints one general deputy and five special deputies, one each for Manhattan and The Bronx, Brooklyn, Richmond and Oueens, and one for the country of Eric. The friends of the Hon. George W. Aldridge of Rochester have said that he was a candidate for Paulroad Commissioner Lyman, issue the liquor tax certificates and collect the toat the Feter The friends of the Hon. George W. It has been said that Mr. Aldridge is a candidate to succeed C in the Supreme Coult of Brooklyn, but lee Dickey decided against him. Then typesled and the case is pending in the annual banquat. Upon the walls were the he appealed and the case is pending in the higher courts.

Meanwhile Hennesseyi was having a hard dine. The real estate business which he and young Concille had was gone so far as Hennessey was concerned. Last February the young man announced that the partnership had been dissolved. Hennessey heard of it and went to the effler, which was in Carretter and said some bitter things about his mother, but there was no fight. Hennessey formed another partnership with W. A. Schwab and stated in to run Corneille out of business. But his mind was always on getting back that Brooklyn proceerly and getting even with the Corneilles. His equity, however, was against Corneilles. His equity, however, was against the Hon. S. P. Wolcott and the Hon. Charles Dick. responding Secretary, and which Catheries, Youngstown, Treasurer.

The speakers were Aaren Wagoner, Goy George K. Nash, Theodore Hall of Ashtabula, the Hon E. L. Lampson, W. H. Smiley, the Hon S. P. Wolcott and the Hon, Charles Dick.

The point of this is that Mr. Fox is a solid gold man and always has been. He was the President of the club before Mr. Croker took hold of it, in the days when cleveland and his friends used to meet there. It will be remembered that when Col Bryan visited the East last winter President Keller gave him a reception at the Democratic Club. On the day of the reception Mr. Fox and other members of the organization sent along communication to Mr. Keller, protesting that he should make it plain to the world that the Democratic Club did not indorse Mr. Bryan's financial views.

Now that Col. Bryan has been disposed of, Mr. Fox is to be elected President of the club again.

STUDENT FALLS 110 LEEL.

Nash of Princeton Killed While Climbing Mer

eer Heights Water Tower. PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 19.-While attempt ng to climb an iron ladder running up the aide of the high water tower on Mercer Heights just outside of Princeton, at 5 o'clock this afternoon, Leonard M. Nash of Bradford, Pa., student here, lost his hold and fell about 110 feet. He was instantly killed.

In company with Robert Brokaw and S. L. Moore, freshmen from St. Louis, Nash started to walk across country early in the afternoon. It was just about dusk when they were passing the tower on the return trip. Nash, the other boys say, left them without a word and begap to mount the trestlework which leads the ladder on the tower. The structure is about 120 feet high and Nash had climbed about half the distance when Moore also de cided to try his hand at the feat. He had climbed only about twenty-five feet, though, when his companion near the top shouted: "Look out, I am coming down!" Moore says that he heard a noise as though somebody was slipping on the iron and then he was suddenly struck on the head by a falling body. He managed to keep his hold on the iron bars It was guite dark, but he realized what had happened and hurried to the ground where he found Brokaw bending over Nash's body. Medical aid was summoned as soon as possible, but Nash's neck had been broken.

Nash failed to enter college as a freshman last September, but he had been studying hard since and had recently passed a number of examinations, so that his enrolment in February was assured. He was popular among the first-year men. Word was sent to his home to-night.

The tower is famous in Princeton's history for the deeds of daring that have been associated with it, and it is a wonder that more accidents have not occurred. It was formerly the custom for the freshmen each year to climb the structure and then, being lowered from the top by ropes, to paint their numerals on the sides.

EDITH BOOTH WAS MRS. VON BEIL. Identification of the Woman Kille 1 While Driving With Newton Stachelberg.

The body of the young woman who was thrown out of Newton B. Stachelberg's carrlage in Central Park on Nov. 11 and who died in St. Vincent's Hospital on Sunday as the result of her injuries was identified at the Morgue yesterday as that of Mrs. E. A. Von Beil of 1845 Broadway. The identification was made by Benjamin Boycott, Jr., of Altoona, her brother.

The woman, who was described by Stachelberg as "Edith Booth, an actress," declared her own identity to the sisters at the St. Vincent Hospital when she knew that she was going to die, and asked that her family be sent for. Her father, mother, and brother and the brother's wife got here from Altoona yesterday morning and went to the dead woman's flat. Then the brother went to the Morgue and got the body which will be sent to Altoona to-day or to-merrow.

Then the bother went to the Morgue and got the body which will be sent to Altoona to-day or to-morrow.

Stachelberg paid Mrs. Von Beil's expenses as a private patient at St. Vincent's and has known her for some time. Mrs. Von Beil's last husband, who was the son of a Philadelphia brewer, is living somewhere in this city, according to Lawyer Buckley. In the lunacy proceedings against young Stachelberg last summer Mrs. Von Beil was referred to by Stachelber's mother as the woman who was to some extent responsible for her son's alleged inability to take care of himself.

ALTOONA. Pa. Nov. 19.—Mrs. Von Beil's father, Benjamin Boycott, was postmaster of this city from 182 to 1886. She was married five years ago to Theodore McCill, a railway official, from whom she separated by divorce a year later. Shortly after her divorce she married W. W. Booth, a wealthy young man of Baltimore. The young woman's desire to figure on the stage is said to have led to a second separation on her part.

W. E. D. Stokes, John Gerken, the President of the Waunub Company, which owns a number of cafes in this city, and I. H. Rosenfeld, proprietor of the Café Boulevard at Second avenue and Tenth street, have incorporated at Albany a company with a capital stock of $500,000. The name of the company as incorporated is the New Amsterdam Hotel Company. Since the incorporation the incorporators have learned that another hotel in this city bears that name and papers have been filed at Albany to change the name of the company to "The

to change the name of the company to "The Hungarian Company."

Mr. Rosenfeld explained last night that he did not intend to tear down the Café Boulevard, but that it was rather the intention to build a big building on some of the uptown projectly of Mr. Stokes, and have on the ground floor a Hungarian restaurant of the highest class. The exact location of the Property has not as yet been decided upon.

"I may sell the Café Boulevard to the new company," said Mr. Rosenfeld, "but if I do they will have to pay me a good price. When I opened the place in 1825 I had thirty tables. Now I have 170, and when the present alterations are completed about Christmas there will be room for many more. I have decided to buy the adjoining property on Second avenue and further expand."

The new company does not expect to begin building for at least a year.

JOHN A. HENNEBERRY'S SON ARRESTED. Accused of Porketing $99.71 of the Receipts of the New York Bottling Company.

John Henneberry, 19 years old, a son of John . Henneberry, the Republican politician of the East Side, was arrested last night and locked up in the West 100th street station charged with stealing $99.71 from the New York Bottling Company which employed him as a clerk. It was one of Henneberry's duties to receive from the drivers money they had collected during the day and last night, it is alleged instead of putting this in the safe, he put it in his pocket and went off with it. Eugene C. Ludin, one of the proprietors of the concern noticed that Henneberry remained later than usual and when the latter left the office at 620 West Fifty-fifth street, Ludin discovered that the money collected by fifteen drivers had not been put in the safe. He reported the case to the police and also decided to try and find Henneberry himself. Henneberry is a member of the flospital Corps of the Twelfth Regiment, Ludin did not find him at the Armory so he went to the Lion Paiace Casino at 116th street and Broadway where he found him in the barroom. A rollceman was called who took him to the station house where he was searched and $74.51 was found. Henneberry admitted stealing the money and told the police he was the black sheep of the family. He said he lived with his father at 171 East Ninetieth street. from the drivers money they had collected

HELD ALL THE DIAMONDS IN DENTIST KELLY'S SEIZED BAGGAGE.

Look in His Teeth for Diamonds." Was the Cable Warning to the Custom House Stuffing Teeth With Diamonds Is Kelly's Specialty. Not Smuggling - Peorla Is Outraged.

Franklin D. Kelly, the Peoria dentist, started for home yesterday triumphant over the officials of the Custom House. The telegraph wires report that Dr. Kelly has the warm sympathy of dental circles of Pecria in the noble fight he is making for the Peoria or diamond-studded tooth.

It was asserted yesterday by Dr. Kelly's friends in this city that the last thing in the world the Peoria dentist desired to have happen was that his sample diamond-studded teeth should be concealed for a moment from any one interested in dentistry. Dr. Kelly was in fact on his way back from the Parls Exposition, where he had been exhibiting the glittering creations of his brain and buzz wheel to the whole wide world. His diamonds glitter in the teeth of opera singers and he has given the pugilist Fitzsimmons a plug in the law, so to speak, of a permanent and brilliant char-

It soon became apparent to the Deputy Collector that a misunderstanding had led to the seizure on Sunday of the baggage of Dr. Kelly, or rather that of his clerk, Miss Dorrance, who came to this country on the same steamship with him, the New York of the American Line. The Treasury Department had been informed by some mysterious person on the other side of the ocean that a Dr. Kelly, accompanied by an attractive young woman. was attempting to smuggle a trunk full of diamonds into this country on the New York The Department's Informant was very insistent. Col. Phelps was interrupted in his labors again and again by the receipt of telegrams telling him to be sure not to let the diamonds get through without paying duty. In at least one of the telegrams was a hint in Dr. Kelly's teeth. This warning now indicates to persons not officially connected with the Department that somebody was playing given them. a practical joke on Dr. Kelly or the Department. Col. Phelps was so impressed with the necessity for keeping a sharp lookout for the diamonds that he sent four of his best men to the pier to meet the New York. There is sometimes said to be friction between the officers of the Collector's office and the officers of the Surveyor's office. It was not observed that the Collector's men showed any signs of great grief at the pier when they saw Deputy Surveyor Dowling and his assistants put the large chalked flourishes on Miss Dorrance's trunks which showed that they were "passed." The Collector's men simply advanced to the trunks and said that they wanted them opened. The Surveyor's people had the trunks opened. The Collector's people found the diamond-studded teeth. There were about a bushel of the teeth in the trunk, and in the excitement of the moment it seemed as though they were all studded with diamonds. A paper was exhibited by Dr. Kelly, which the Surveyor's people had already looked at and had made out to be a certificate that all the teeth, diamond-studded and otherwise, in the doctor's collection were products of the United States and exported for the purposes of the Exposition. To the Collector's people it seemed to look more like a bill of sale for the diamonds. The trunks which contained the feeth were sent to the appraiser's stores and the reporters who wanted to know what it was all about got a story about a "selzure of unout diamonds." But yesterday morning the dentist and his assistant went to the Custom House in no very pleasant frame of mind. They seemed to feel that not only had a slight been put upon them personally, but upon the whole diamond studded school of dentistry. Miss Dorrance, who said on the pier on Sunday "I'm something of a Republican myself," seemed to think that somebody was going to lose his official head right away.

After a talk with the two, Col Phelps said that he rether thought that a mixteke had been the pier to meet the New York. There is sometimes said to be friction between the officers

After a talk with the two, Col. Phelps said that he rather thought that a mistake had been that he rather thought that a mistake had been made. A formal visit was made to the appraiser's stores. The teeth were gone over. It was found that they were all of American growth or manufacture. A diamond studded set that had attracted particular attention in Paris was a facsimile of the set which now decorates the mouth of Mr. Flizzimmons. About $27 worth of diamond chips were found. On those Kelly was required to pay duty. All the baggage of the dentist and Miss Dorrance was then released and was at once forwarded to Peoria.

Peoria.

Profita, Ill., Nov. 19.—This city was shocked to-day to learn of the conflict between Dr. Franklin D. Kelly and the customs officials of New York. Dr. Kelly has become famous in the West by his success in filling teeth with diamonds. He has built up a substantial practice among the citizens of Peoria and Chicago.

MILLIONAIRE BUILDS SPITE FENCE. Neighbor Wouldn't Sell Strip of Land to Philip

Because, it is asserted, J. Broadhead Woolsey, rich silver and gold refiner, would not sela strip of land to his neighbor, Philip Ney Jack son, the millionaire operator in electric light and power stocks and president of several New Jersey companies, the latter built New Jersey companies, the latter built a spite fence yesterday upon a thirteen-foot alley which he owns adjoining a row of houses which Mr. Woolsey recently built. The latter has several places upon which he can erect spite fences to annoy Mr. Jackson, and he says that he is going to work to-day. Mr. Jackson's fence is fifty feet long and twenty-eight feet high, and it cuts off the light and air from the end house of the new row. Mr. Woolsey says that he will build a fence fifty feet long and thirty feet high, which will entirely shut off the view of the Newark Bay and Bergen Hills from Mr. Jackson's escentric house on Waverleypiace.

Waverleypiace
A bill has been drawn up for presentation to the Legislature this winter which will prohibit the erection of any fences in cities of the first class in New Jersey to a height of over seven feet without permission from the Superintendent of Buildings. It is aimed at spite fences.

CLUNG TO TRAIN FOR 35 MILES.

Miss Wetherton Was on the Step. the Vestibale Door Leeved Against Her.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19 Miss Cornelia Wetherton of Greencastle reached the station at that place last night just as the vestibule train on the Big Foor was pulling out, and being anxious to feach New York to-night she grabbed the hand rail of one of the coaches and was assisted by a friend to mount the step By this time the train was moving rapidly and when she tried the door of the vestibule she found that it was locked against her. The rain was falling in torrents and she beat upon the door to attract attention, but the noise of the train drowned her rappings on the door and her hands soon became so numb with the cold that she was compelled to hold on with both to keep from falling off.

With her clothing drenched by the rain, her hair blown down by the wind and her eyes filled with the heavy smoke from the engine

This wreckage shows that the Hudson either foundered at sea or was stranded on one of the numerous southerly shoals of Nantucket, and broken in pieces. It is probable that her crew of five men have perished.

The Hudson was owned by Robert D. Little & Co., coal dealers of Providence. She was laden with 1.023 tons of coal. She had a crew of live men and was commanded by Capt. Webster of Wakefield, R. I.

STARVING MAN ON THE BRIDGE. Didn't Beg. Just Collapsed -Cop Sends Around the Hat for Him A man leaning against a railing on the Brooklyn Bridge was moved on by a policeman yesterday afternoon. The man staggered when he moved and the policeman thought the fellow was drunk.

"I haven't had anything to eat in two days. That's what's the matter with me," said the man when the cop grabbed him again. He man when the cop grabbed him again. He added that he was Robert Ferguson, a ship's carpenter, and that he couldn't get work.

An ambulance was called, but the surgeon said that there was nothing the matter with Ferguson but lack of food. The policeman settled that by taking up a collection for him and sending him to a restaurant, where he was left to eat his fill.

First Rainfall at Magdalens Bay in Eight Years.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.- Capt. Carter of the schooner Volant, from Magdalena Bay. Lower California, reports that the first rain that has fallen at Magdalera in eight years fell while he was there. This place is one of the most arid in the world, being between the northern and southern rain belts. It has one of the best harbers on the Pacific Coast, and is a favorite place for target practice by Ameri-can warships.

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 19 .- After to-day's showers having charge of the arrangements for the car-nival during the national gathering of the Elks in different parts of the city and local scientists are at a loss to account for their appearance. From the fact that some of the fish were found on the roofs of the big buildings at the steel mills it is supposed that they must have dropped from the clouds.

TO TRY CROSS AND HERLIHY

POLICE BOARD TAKES ACTION ON BISHOP POTTER'S MEMORIAL.

Edward M. Shepard and W. M. K. Olcott Will Probably He Asked to Prosecute the Accused Police Officers Bishop Potter Requested to Furnish Specific Information on Which Charges Can Be Formulated

Chief Devery Wont Suspend the Men-

As the direct result of Bishop Potter's memerial to the Mayor in which he complained of conditions on the East Side section known as the "Red Light district," Police Inspector Adam A Cross of the first inspection district and Capt. John D. Herlihy, formerly of the Eldridge street station, but now of the Steamboat squad, are to be placed on trial before she clung to the railing for a distance of thirty- the Police Commissioners, and are to be five miles, which the train was covering at prosecuted by counsel sele-ted by Presiwhen the train entered the Union station here. Miss Wetherton fell upon the platform the board meeting at which all of these things were decided yesterday that he had made up his mind on Edward M Shenard and former District Attorney W. M. K. Olcott as counsel and he would seek to engage then just as soon as he could be sure that he had the right to do so. The two officers mentioned are to be tried on general charges of inefficiency, unbecoming conduct and failure to properly enforce the law and the rules and regulations of the Police Department. They are not to be tried on the charge of insulting the Pev. Dr. Paddock, pastor of the Pro-tinthedral on Stanton street, because in his letter Police Department since the drag net was Bishop Potter referred to this incident without mentioning names, and so the board decided that it was not in a position to go ahead with the matter. That the board does not was shown by the passage of a resolution directing President York to call on Bishop Potter for the proper preparation of charges against Inspector Cross and Capt. Herlihy for insolence to Dr. Paddock. Mr. York is also directed to ask the Bishop to designate counsel to represent those persons who were the victima of insolence from the officials mentioned. Pending the trial of the charges against Inspector Cross and Capt. Herlihy those two officers will probably not be suspended from duty. On this point it was evident yesterday that there was a little friction. Chief Devery says that the men will not be suspended and that he knows what he is talking about, as the power of suspension is vested in him Mr. York declined to talk about the matter of suspension at all, but his manner was that of a man who was not satisfied with the way things were going, and around Police Headquarters there was a persistent rumor that he and the Chief had clashed. It was said that Mr. York wanted both officers relieved from duty at once and kept under suspension until the charges against them have been disposed of. The Chief, it was said, refused to listen to any such proposition.

The board meeting yesterday was behind closed doors, but it was known that at it the board would officially receive for the first time the letter from the Mayor, which was published in THE SUN on Saturday, and the memorial from Bishop Potter, a copy of which the Mayor sent along with his own communication. The only member of the board not present was Commissioner Hess, who was ill. The board was in session for about two hours, during which time Chief Devery appeared before it, and there was much running in and out of clerks and stenographers. When it was all over, those portions of the minutes which the board decided the public might know about were given to the reporters by Clerk Kipp. The first resolution passed sent to it by the Mayor concerned the Chief of Police and was as follows: from his Honor the Mayor it is stated that in with the name "Hudson" painted on it, a portion | the communication received by him from the Bishop of New York open and public violatio of law and decency exist in the neighborhood of the Pro-Cathedral in Stanton street: it is

> "Resolved, That the Chief of Police be and is directed to report to the board what action he has taken in reference to the conditions alleged to exist in said neighborhood; and it

"Resolved. That he adopt all means necessary to effect the abatement of any violations of the law that are alleged to exist in said neighborhood, and that he report his actions hereunder to the board.

"Resolved, That the Chief of Police be and is directed to cause a rigid enforcement of all laws and ordinances throughout the city of New York and that he give to the same his personal attention and exact a rigid compliance with this resolution by every officer in the department and that he adopt such methods as will enable him to be assured that the requirements of this resolution are complied with. and where a failure to so comply exists he is required to at once prefer charges against the defaulting officer." Then the board discussed the matter of th charges for a long time. It was said that the board was unanimous in the opinion that no time should be lost in preferring charges against officers whose official conduct had been so severely criticised by citizens as had that of Inspector Cross and Capt. Herlihy. The following resolution was finally drawn up and passed, every member of the board voting for lowing resolution was finally drawn up and passed, every member of the board voting for it:

"Whereas, In a communication received from his Honor the Mayor the attention of the board is called to the statement made by the Right Rev Bishop Potter as to the open and public violations of law and decency in the neighborhood of the Pro-Cathedrai in Stantonistreet. It is

"Resolved, That the Committee on Rules and Discipline be and is directed to prepare proper and thecessary charges against Capt. John D. Herlihy covering the period of time during which he was commanding officer of the Twelfth precinct, for inefficiency, conduct unbecoming an officer and neglect of duty in failing to properly enforce the laws and the rules and regulations of the Police Department in said precinct and that the Chief of Police be and is directed to prefer charges under the direction of the said Committee on Rules and Discipline against said officer. It is further

"Resolved, That the Committee on Rules and Discipline be and is directed to prefer charges under the direction of the said Committee on Rules and Discipline be and is directed to prepare the proper and necessary charges against Inspector Adam A. Cross, covering such part of the period of time during which said Adam A. Cross was Inspector in charge of the First Inspector district as in the judgment of the said committee it may be deemed necessary for the failure of the said Adam A. Cross, as Inspector, to properly enforce the laws and the rules and regulations of the Police Department within said inspector under the direction of said Committee on Rules and Discipline. It is further

"Resolved, That the President of this board, for and in behalf of the board, be and he is authorized, directed and empowered to take such steps as may be necessary to empley and retain counsal at law for the projer presentation and prosecution of the charges hereinbefore directed to be treferred.

A copy of these resolutions was sent to the Mayor by the board, accompanied by the following letter:
